Enjoyed the collegial support, great venue, speakers, content and entertainment. It gave me a glimpse of careers in the future in relation to e conversations in guidance and the overall impact of technology on people education and career development. It totally filled my professional development tank - exciting!

The highlights were the excellent key note speakers who demonstrated newer career theories with skill and humour.

I haven't been to many international careers conferences (in fact this is the first for me after 6 years in the business) but I think that this conference was fantastic! The organisation, the quality of the workshops and seminars and the great key note speakers was amazing. It was 2 ½ days of great learning. It was consistently of a high calibre and I never found myself nodding off to sleep, even in the afternoon after lunch J

This was a great experience and it was also great to catch up with other practitioners in the field from all over the world... my highlight was actually meeting and talking with Sereena Hopkins and Lynne Bezanson from the Canadian Career Development Foundation... wow! They are so amazing. I think I turned into a raving groupie when I met with them... but I got a hug out of them! And seeing Krumboltz live on stage was incredible! What a funny guy.

Sigh!!! I wonder if I could afford to go to the next one in India... would anyone like to sponsor me? ;)

The conference was inspirational to me because of the sense of affiliation and affinity I gained with people on an international scale and from identifying new and innovative ways of working with my clients.
